AURORA BOREALIS 2017

» AURORA BOREALIS COLOUR COLLECTION

Magical combination of shiny pearlescent pigments and mat colour composites

Aurora Borealis colours transform in shades of the beautiful Nordic sky upon skin application. This extraordinary colour collection consists of Creastar® Transformation, Creastar® Quadricromes and Colourmat® Transformation ranges.

Creastar® Transformation

The base materials used for Creastar® Transformation are iridescent pearlescent pigments with blue and pink hues, which change colour upon application. Creastar® Transformations are structural colorants in which dyes are added on the iridescent surface. When the Creastar® Transformation is applied on the skin, the pink or blue base colour transforms to a completely new colour.

Creastar® Quadricromes

These Creastars® are based on borosilicate matrix with a selected particle size distribution to obtain a brilliant shine. With a special double layer technology, in which several colours are combined in one, they show four different colours in one product upon application.

Colourmat® Transformation

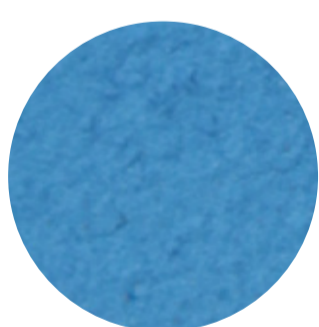

Colourmat® Transformation products are intensive pink and blue colour composites, which transform to a new colour upon application. The more pressure is applied on the product the more dramatic the colour change is. This range is based on natural muscovite mica and lauroyl lysine surface treatment, which give a mat effect and a sliding long lasting application. Colourmat® Transformation products with platelet shaped particles give amazing skin adherence and they are stable under high heat conditions.
